

Sunseeker November/December 2010

By Heather Turk

Here's a look at several attractions in Vegas that always rank high among visiting families.

CSI: THE EXPERIENCE AT MGM GRAND

Usually, taking your child to the scene of a crime is considered bad parenting, but in Las Vegas it's considered fun. At CSI: The Experience, anyone 12 and older can play the role of a crime scene investigator, reporting to one of three different crime scenes to gather evidence to solve the case. Once the evidence is gathered, recruits will be guided by videos featuring "CSI" cast members and real-life forensic scientists as they complete the investigation process. Depending on the case you've been assigned, you may have to examine bullet casings or identify the source of a single strand of hair to catch the criminal.

CSI: The Experience
at MGM Grand

